RUDOLPH SCHROEDER

ABOUT THE ARTIST

Pen and Ink and Pen and Ink over Acrylic paint. These are the mediums Rudolph Schroeder has been working with for over thirty years as an artist.

A romantic at heart, Rudolph grew up in New York City where he attended Grammar and High School in Queens. His interest and talent for art was visible in High School. Early work was in Tall Ships. Next came Lighthouses. Today, he has a handsome collection of art work on both. Not stopping here other subjects were explored. Landscapes, Old Barns, Horses, Lake Freighters, Old Trains, World War I and II Fighter Planes, Birds of Paradise, Vintage Cars, Carousel Horses etc. Due to his diversity of subjects, Rudolph does a lot of commission work which he welcomes.

After serving two years in the United States Marine Corps during the Korean War, Rudolph attended and was graduated from North Carolina State University in Raleigh.

Lee Iacocca has Schroeder's original India Ink sketch on the "Miss Liberty Centennial". Dennis Conner, America's premier sailor also has a Rudolph original and this is "Stars & Stripes" winning the 1987 America's Cup. Other notables/organizations possessing Rudolph's art work are :Ted Turner, Rudolph Giuliani of New York City, Mario Cuomo, America's renown orator, Charles Krulak, former Commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps and The Museum de Paris, France.

The White House now has Rudolph's framed picture depicting the New Millennium. Former President William Clinton sent a "thank you" note to Rudolph on this art work. A framed print is also on display on Liberty Island, New York for millions of viewers to see as they visit the Statue of Liberty. Of course, the artist is honored by this.
